A Day at the Park

Tom and his friend Lily decided to spend a day at the park. They wanted to enjoy the beautiful weather and have some fun. The park was a big place with many trees, flowers, and a large playground.

When Tom and Lily arrived at the park, they saw a lot of families having picnics. Some children were playing with kites, while others were running around. Tom and Lily walked over to a big oak tree and sat down on the grass. They unpacked their lunch and started eating.

After lunch, Tom suggested they play a game. Lily agreed, and they decided to play Frisbee. They took out the Frisbee from Tom's bag and began throwing it back and forth. They laughed and enjoyed the game. Soon, other kids joined in and they all played together.

Later in the afternoon, Tom and Lily walked around the park. They saw a small pond with ducks swimming in it. Lily wanted to feed the ducks, so they went to a nearby store and bought some bread. They broke the bread into small pieces and threw it to the ducks. The ducks were very happy and ate the bread quickly.

As the sun started to set, Tom and Lily knew it was time to go home. They packed up their things and said goodbye to the park. They had a great day and promised to come back soon. They walked home, talking about all the fun they had and planning their next visit.

Tom and Lily's day at the park was filled with laughter and joy. They enjoyed spending all day outside and playing games. They looked forward to their next adventure and hoped it would be just as fun as today.

The Lost Dog

Once upon a time, there was a small dog named Max. Max was very happy and loved to play outside. He had a red collar and a big, wagging tail. Max lived with a kind family who loved him very much.

One sunny day, Max was playing in the yard. He saw a butterfly and decided to chase it. The butterfly flew out of the yard and Max followed it. He ran and ran until he was far from home. When Max stopped, he looked around and realized he was lost. He was very scared.

Max tried to find his way back, but he did not know where he was. He saw tall buildings and busy streets. He felt very lonely and missed his family. Max sat down and began to cry. He hoped someone would help him find his way home.

A kind woman saw Max sitting alone. She came over and gently petted him. "Are you lost, little dog?" she asked. Max looked up at her with big, sad eyes. The woman decided to help. She took Max to a local animal shelter.

At the shelter, the workers saw Max's red collar and noticed his sad face. They took a picture of Max and put it on their website. They hoped that Max's family would see it and come to get him.

Max waited at the shelter. Every day, he hoped his family would come. He made new friends with other animals, but he still missed his family very much.

One day, Max heard familiar voices. He ran to the door and saw his family! They were so happy to see Max, and Max was overjoyed. They hugged him and promised never to let him go far again. Max was finally home.

From that day on, Max played safely in his yard. He learned to be more careful and always stayed close to home. Max was happy to be with his family again. Every day, he was grateful for their love and care.

Read the following conversation and answer the questions below.

Conversation between Taro and Jane

Jane: Hi, Taro! How are you finding life in an American high school?

Taro: Hi, Jane! It's really interesting, but also very different from Japan.

Jane: Oh, really? What's different?

Taro: In Japan, we stay in one classroom all day, and the teachers come to us. But here, we move to different classrooms for each subject.

Jane: Wow! I can't imagine staying in one room all day. I like moving around!

Taro: Yes, it's different. Also, in Japan, we have cleaning time after classes. Students help clean the school.

Jane: Really? We don't do that here. We have janitors to clean.

Taro: Yes, I noticed that. And the lunch is different, too. In Japan, we eat in our classroom. But here, everyone eats in a big cafeteria.

Jane: That's true. I like eating with lots of people. What about clubs? Do you have them in Japan?

Taro: Yes, after-school clubs are very important in Japan. Many students join sports or cultural clubs.

Jane: We have a lot of clubs too! But it sounds like Japanese clubs are more serious.

Taro: Yes, students practice very hard every day. It's a big part of school life.

Jane: That's cool. What about uniforms? Do you wear them in Japan?

Taro: Yes, most schools have uniforms. But I noticed American students wear their own clothes to school.

Jane: Yeah, we don't have uniforms here. I think I'd feel strange wearing one every day!

Taro: It's just normal for us. But I'm getting used to American school life now.

Jane: I'm glad to hear that! You're doing great, Taro!
